

Cost of Letting
Stock Run on Road
Is Prohibitive

The stock law used to be a controversial issue in these parts. Miller, Hempstead and Nevada counties require livestock to be kept off the highways. Hempstead voted for its own local law years ago and when enforcement grew lax and there were frequent car-cow collisions I suggested that maybe the farmers would like to see the law repealed.

The answer was a very definite "no." Besides protecting motor car traffic traveling from one city to another the stock law gives a farmer assurance that his neighbor's cattle won't run over his fields and destroy the crop.

Three counties at the west end of U.S. 67 have this protection given by locally-voted law—but the protection ends at the Clark county line, and there are other counties besides Clark where both motor traffic and growing crops are at the mercy of free-ranging cattle.

Now comes Orson Kilpatrick of Malvern with a petition to initiate an act in the November general election which would establish a state-wide stock law. He is organizing the Arkansas Livestock and Conservation League to obtain the 12,500 signatures required to put his proposal on the state ballot.

Well, it's a matter that ought to be voted on. In the beginning, all this was free range country. But free range doesn't go along very well with mixed farming and heavy motor traffic. It's up to the people to decide whether Arkansas has reached that stage of development where it is necessary to restrict the free range of livestock.

Mr. Kilpatrick has some impressive figures to support his proposal. He quotes state police statistics to show that:

About 70 persons are killed each year in Arkansas by highway accidents involving livestock. An average of 600 automobiles are damaged every year for the same reason.

And 600 to 800 head of livestock are killed annually.

There's the story.

World Needs Peace Heroes

Once more on Sunday, May 30, the nation will honor its war dead, but reflect on their deeds and sacrifices.

Each solemn observance of Memorial Day since the end of World War II has found a world more confused, more alarmed, seemingly likely to plunge into a third great conflict.

While paying tribute to heroes slaughtered in former wars, it would seem proper also to pray for peacetime heroes who may rescue us from future wars.

On battlefields around the globe, the graves of American heroes will be decorated—in some cases by comrades who now man their stations, sometimes by foreign friends, gained during battle, and faithful new recruits.

On each soldier's grave, a fresh new flag. Parades down flag-lined streets, massed colors, military bands of every description, life and drum corps, lone buglers sounding taps—these are the hearts of all Americans in their ranks.

In the National Cemetery at Arlington, Va., the grave of the Unknown Soldier will be decorated as a symbol of American remembrance of all his comrades. The immortal words of Abraham Lincoln will be heard again at Gettysburg, and repeated thousands of times across the country.

In churches throughout the land, prayer for future peace will accompany America's tribute to its war dead.

And yet, through it all, tireless war tickers will be pounding out the story of the "cold" war with Russia, the "hot" war in Palestine, war in China—the seeds of war throughout the world.

On this Memorial Day, 1948, may Americans find new strength, new wisdom. May our leaders find new guidance that will enable them to lead the world out of its confusion and distress. May the living spirits of those who have died for America penetrate the hearts and souls of those who live and work. May those who live and work strive to become heroes of the peace—heroes willing to give their lives, just as the war heroes who have sacrificed themselves for the cause of freedom.

The whole world might well pray with America that heroes of the peace will lead the world through their efforts, insure that we will not have another long roster of heroic war dead to pay tribute to on a Spring Sunday.

Petrillo Knocks Out Proposed Network Program

New York, May 29 — (AP) — The Mutual Broadcasting System said last night it is canceling plans for broadcasts from the National Music Camp at Interlochen, Mich., to avoid "controversies" with James C. Petrillo.

The network said the projected weekly summer programs were dropped because Dr. Joseph E. Murray, the camp president, sought to "involve" MBS with the AFL musicians union president.

MBS decided last Saturday to air programs by the high school musicians. Murray said then he was "glad" MBS gives more importance to law than to the dictates of Petrillo.

The program has not been broadcast since 1942 when Petrillo claimed the young musicians were depriving professional musicians of work.

Maddy, reached at the Interlochen Camp last night, said, "I have been informed of the cancellation. My comment on it is that I think you can draw your own conclusions."

The youth orchestra, which draws its school-age musicians from all parts of the country, is on Petrillo's "unfair list."

Other networks have refused to broadcast the programs.

Marshall Says West Winning 'Cold War'

By JOHN HIGHTOWER

Washington, May 29 — (AP) — The Western powers are winning the cold war with Russia but the end is not yet in sight.

That appeared today as the main theme of Secretary of State Marshall's newest report on American foreign policy.

Marshall's views were expressed last night before the General Federation of Women's Clubs at Portland, Ore. It was his first full-length address since the Russian "peace offensive" opened almost three weeks ago.

The secretary dealt at length with that development. But he pointed out that peace prospects depend mainly on a continued western policy of firmness with the Soviet Union—a policy which he said may be threatened from two sides.

The strong and impatient desire of people everywhere for a return to "normal conditions" may lead to West into a Soviet false peace trap baited with propaganda.

2. Americans may engage in some "involuntary" or spasmodic action which could damage the confidence of other peoples—confidence enough at best—in the reliability of the United States as a world leader.

Marshall bluntly called the Soviet peace moves "a cynical propaganda campaign to offset a sincere effort on our part to establish a basis for profitable negotiations."

But he said he thought American progress toward that end since the first of the year has been "excellent and history making."

He called for continued support of this nation's "firm policy toward Russia, saying that only such a firm and determined course can save the situation for the Democracies."

Two developments bear out Marshall's report of excellent progress: the enactment of the European Recovery Program and the gradual growth of European relationships which might become a true Western European Union.

Marshall's speech was characterized particularly by a defense of his handling of the Russian peace campaign.

The secretary said the desires of people for peace and conditions produce "strong resentment of any statement or lack of action that appears contrary to the fulfillment of that desire." But he said such emotions "must not lead us into ill-considered and hasty actions which would hazard the future of this country."

On the graves of American heroes will be decorated—in some cases by comrades who now man their stations, sometimes by foreign friends, gained during battle, and faithful new recruits.

On each soldier's grave, a fresh new flag. Parades down flag-lined streets, massed colors, military bands of every description, life and drum corps, lone buglers sounding taps—these are the hearts of all Americans in their ranks.

Act Would Bar Livestock From State Highways

Little Rock, May 29 — (AP) — Livestock would be barred from Arkansas highways under a proposed initiative act which sponsors hope to submit for a vote in the November general election.

Joe W. Kinsey of Malvern, former state legislator, is one of the sponsors of the proposal. First notice of intention to submit the proposal was advertised today, as required by law.

The legal advertisement states it "is a proposal for an initiative act to make it unlawful for owners of livestock to permit the same to run at large within the state."

The proposal itself would make it unlawful for owners of cattle, horses, mules, hogs, sheep or goats to allow them to run at large along or on any public roads or highways of railroad right-of-ways of the state.

The act would provide fines of not less than $10 nor more than $50 for the first offense, and fines of not less than $20 or 10 days imprisonment, or both, for subsequent offenses.

Auto Workers Start Back to Work

Detroit, May 29 — (AP) — The vanguard of 75,000 Chrysler Corp. workers began trickling back into plants today, their 17-day strike ended by a straight 13-cent an hour wage increase.

With their return the second major labor dispute in the automobile industry this year was written off the books.

Chrysler's agreement with the CIO United Auto Workers, announced last night, bettered by two cents the raise given $25,000 strikers during a cost of living increase of $1.00.

It provided less than half the union's original demand but more than twice Chrysler's best previous offer.

Memorial Day, 1948, brings new solilo to the families of thousands of American fighters who gave their lives in World War II. For this the first Memorial Day since the war's end that finds the bodies of heroes who fell on foreign soil resting in their homeland, near their loved ones. Widow of one such hero is Mrs. Collette C. Gerhardt, praying with her children after decorating the grave of her husband, the late Pvt. Albert T. Gerhardt in action in Germany, Sept. 21, 1944. Undoubtedly she expressed the feelings of most families who had their war dead brought home when she said: "I am glad I had him returned to his home. The last feeling I had when he was buried so far away Belgium is gone now."

He and There in Arkansas

Fayetteville, May 29 — (AP) — About 20 University of Arkansas students appeared as witnesses today when the shington circuit court took up a contest over the Fayetteville municipal judgeship election last Oct. 24.

Joe Maplin Cummings delayed the hearing to a date which would coincide with the election of the city primary.

The third party presidential candidate said that "as the bill is framed, its penalties can be visited on every organization which espouses the cause of world peace and progress," and added:

"The Mundt bill would empower the attorney general to proscribe our party and visit criminal penalties upon its members. In the event that it is enacted, it is most certainly would — to register with him."

Shortly before Wallace testified, Socialist Norman Thomas told the committee that the "third party" supporting Henry Wallace for president is controlled by a large extent by Communists.

Thomas, presidential candidate of the Socialists, also is opposed to the Mundt-Nixon bill.

Thomas, after criticizing the measure already approved by the House, was asked by Senator Eastland (D-Miss.)

"Do you think the third party supporting Mr. Wallace is controlled by Communists?"

"Yes it is to a large extent," Thomas replied quickly and then said he would explain this.

Thomas said Wallace is a Communist and the majority of his enthusiastic supporters are not but the Wallace movement is "influenced by well-trained and very well-disciplined Communists."

Thomas also told senators that the American Communist party and movement are under foreign control from Russia.

In a 3,000-word statement prepared for the Senate Judiciary Committee, he further stated that the Communist party is a "dictator over every organization in the land. He is given virtually unlimited power to brand and outlaw the association of our people for the political advocacy of common objectives."

"The only precedent for such authority," said Wallace, is "the power given to the Nazi minister of the interior by the first laws passed after Hitler's accession to power."

He referred to Hitler's campaign against the Communists as a "constitutional revolution" and said that the suppression of the Communist party is "the prelude to an assault upon the liberties of all the people."

"In Germany, communism was the ostensible target, but the real victims were the citizens of every state in Europe and our own."

There was a note of consistency in this position. The general has insisted his personal political ambitions were to be kept separate from his position as Supreme Commander of Allied Powers in Japan. This, of course, would virtually be impossible if he appeared around the time of the Republican convention in Philadelphia.

But after June he said "I should feel free to place myself fully at your disposal" to clarify oriental issues which will be just as complex in July as now.

There is some opinion here that the general is merely awaiting a more propitious summons to return home in advance of the Republican convention. The chances that this might occur are slim. Washington appeared weakened, however, by President Truman's statement that the final decision on his return was up to MacArthur.

MacArthur put himself on a long leave of absence on his own decision. For one thing, his partial rejection of the most logical argument that could be offered for his immediate presence—that oriental events would not wait.

Communist Bill Attacked by Henry Wallace

Washington, May 29 — (AP) — Henry A. Wallace attacked the Mundt-Nixon anti-communist bill today as "a declaration of war on the rights of free speech and free assembly in the United States."

The third party presidential candidate said that "as the bill is framed, its penalties can be visited on every organization which espouses the cause of world peace and progress," and added:

"The Mundt bill would empower the attorney general to proscribe our party and visit criminal penalties upon its members. In the event that it is enacted, it is most certainly would — to register with him."

Budget Requests Are Studied

Little Rock, May 28 (AP)—The Arkansas Legislative Council today begins study of budget requests for the 1949-51 biennium totaling some $49,000,000 more than estimated anticipated revenues for that period.

At the council's request, all departments except the University of Arkansas submitted budgets for the two years beginning July 1, 1949.

The state comptroller's office assembled the requests and found they totaled $185,017,201 for the two years.

The office also estimated revenues for the same two years at $136,000,000, basing its calculations on present income, less deduction of the $4,000,000 annual ad valorem tax revenue which Governor Lancy has proposed abolishing.

The university said it was unable to estimate its budget needs before July 1, but its estimating purposes the comptroller's office fixed the institution's tentative budget at $2,000,000 annually or a biennial total of $6,000,000. The university's present budget is $2,585,000 annually.

His sprayer applicator may be attached to any type of tractor, he said.

Little Rock, May 28 (AP)—J. McCallister of Jonesboro has taken his fight to get a new automobile to the Arkansas Supreme Court.

McCallister sued the Patton Motor Company, Jonesboro, charging that in 1945 he had been promised delivery of a new car. Instead, he alleged, the company had bypassed his name on lists of prospective purchasers. He asked that it be ordered to allow him to purchase the car in accordance with the alleged agreement.

The Craighead County Chancery Court dismissed the suit. Yesterday McCallister appealed to the supreme court.

Lucy opened the kitchen door and said, "Where were you? I was worried."

Jessica removed Betsy's apron and coat. She followed Lucy through the kitchen door.

Lucy bustled about making hot tea, saying that her mother had gone to church and that she had stayed at home believing they might return chilled and hungry.

Lucy will be hurt when told her plan to leave Tom, tight Jessica, with a touch of irritation at her own sense of guilt. Why should I bother about what they think? I'm young. I've a right to happiness.

Lucy said, "Drink your tea." Jessica pushed the cup away. "I've had my lunch," she cried. "I've had my lunch," she cried. "I've had my lunch," she cried.

Not now. At the moment nothing mattered, for you were unable to think clearly and still the voice of conscience by giving as excuse the bitter loneliness which you had known for these long years.

Afterward, when Jessica tried to analyze that moment, she could remember best the sun, warm on her cheeks, the endless stretch of blue sky, the wind blowing through her hair, and then David's eyes, so blue and intense, holding her own. She remembered the comfort of David's arms around her and her sudden wild desire to have his lips on her own.

Then the picture became confused. David had told her that he loved her. Did she love him? How could you be certain about love? It was so easy to be mistaken. Hadn't she been mistaken in the past about her love for Tom?

She must not think of the past. David had said, "Later we'll make plans, Jessica, not now. Don't spoil this moment. Just let's be happy."

She had had so little happiness, nothing but rebuffs and disapproval. She had wanted to laugh and cry and had clung to David while the tears blinded her eyes.

They were quiet during the return trip. The sun was sinking low as they approached the city. From time to time David bent across Betsy to meet Jessica's glance. "Sorry?" he asked.

She shook her head. No, she was not sorry. Her heart still held a touch of the heady happiness which had warmed her under David's kiss.

She let her fingers cling to his as they drove slowly through the gathering dusk. It was wonderful to be happy, to be loved and cherished, to forget a future which before had loomed threatening and dark with apprehension.

But the curfew mood had lusted only under the spell of David's smile. When he had driven away, and Jessica turned to walk with Betsy up the steps of the old gray house where she had lived since Tom went away and left her, the afternoon seemed like a dream.

As the door closed behind her and she stood in the cold dark hallway she felt imprisoned again, beset by doubts and low-spirited. Betsy said, practically, "I want my supper."

"You've had your supper, baby."

Communists Will Roll Across Czech Nation Tomorrow Killing Remaining Signs of Democracy

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The Communist steam-roller thunder across prostrate Czechoslovakia again tomorrow, leveling the last of the remaining signs of democracy.

To be sure, Democracy still remains hidden within the sty hearts of the vast majority of the little Republic's citizens, for the voters at large are not steam-roller. But the visible signs of freedom will have no ground to dust.

More specifically, a general election to be held in Czechoslovakia to elect a new parliament, his representatives to the assembly of the Red congress—a purport remaining opposition.

The election will follow the single ticket system. For his scheme there are no opposition candidates, but merely a list of names containing the names of the Communist-dominated regime.

Any voter can register a protest by casting a white ink ballot which can be seen by election officials, so that there no secrecy.

Communists and fellow travelers have been busy drumming it into the voters that casting a blank ballot would be like treason. It is added that it also would be like sticking one's head in a noose—an operation which would do no good and would be unhygienic.

If that were the end of the story it would indeed be sad, but the

Summer Camps

Probably no greater contribution to human happiness and well-being has ever been made than the instituting of summer camps for boys and girls. Of all the inventions that the ingenuity of man has devised it comes nearest to filling a long felt want. For it has provided an outlet for the energies of youth and thereby saved the sanity of innumerable mothers.

Time was when the mothers of children at the kid age looked upon the summer vacation with horror and dread. It was their stretch in purgatory when Johnny and Jimmie and Mary and Susie roamed through the house shouting and screaming like Indians on the warpath, and when there was no peace nor rest nor quiet to be had by night or day.

It was a season when little savages defied all the rules of civilization; when they broke up all of Mother's cherished antiques to make bonfires; when flower-beds were trampled down to make a baseball field; when perpetually hungry youngsters gobbled up the cake prepared for company, and when Mother's nerves were worn to tatters trying to answer the continual cry of "M-o-l-l-e-r, what will we do next?"

For school was out, and hordes of children, too immature to have any resource within themselves, were simply bored to death. So it was no wonder that the youngsters got into trouble that they formed bad habits, and that they got to running with the kids across the tracks who taught them all the things they shouldn't know. Nor is it surprising to learn that the children's vacation landed Mother in a rest cure, unless she was a woman of remarkable physique.

No Rest for Mother
But there the situation was—a lot of bright, healthy, curious youngsters with nothing to do, no way to kill time, no way to amuse themselves that they hadn't exhausted.

El Dorado Drops Doubleheader to Merchant Team

The Hope Merchants put on the steam last night to send the El Dorado Oilers home on the short ends of a 7-1 and a 3-0 score of a doubleheader.

Pitchers Roy Taylor and Mutt Ferguson were the sparkers of the Hope club. In the first game Taylor allowed only one run and 6 hits while he struck out three and seven assists from the mound. In the second game Mutt Ferguson's speed pitched the Oilers with 9 strikeouts. The Oilers managed to get only one hit off Ferguson and got only three men on base. The Hope team made only one error in both games. Outstanding play in the field was made by Taylor with an unassisted double play and also the fielding of Bob White and G. Nose was perfect.

Natchez Climbs in Cotton League Standings

By The Associated Press

Natchez climbed to third place in the Cotton States League last night as Helena tumbled, 4-3, before the fourth hitting of Clarksdale's Rap Patterson.

Pap had the Seaporters well in hand throughout, striking out five and issuing one base on balls. Hardy Nettles and Chester Morgan drove in two runs each for the Planters.

Natchez took its second straight victory over El Dorado, 5-2. Herschel Freeman was on the mound for Natchez. He appeared to be well on his way to a shutout until the Oilers combined three hits and two errors for a pair of runs in the eighth inning.

The league-leading Greenwood Dodgers were edged 3-2 by Greenville while second-place Hot Springs swept a doubleheader from Pine Bluff.

Hot Springs took both games by a score of 4-3 and 5-4. The Dodgers took the second game of a seven-inning triple by Shortstop Charlie Schmidt which scored McGhee.

Today's schedule:
Pine Bluff at Hot Springs
Helena at Clarksdale
El Dorado at Natchez
Greenwood at Greenville
